Here is a sample of work I have created throughout my web design career, all of which adhered to W3C and WCAG guidelines and commonplace responsive design principles.

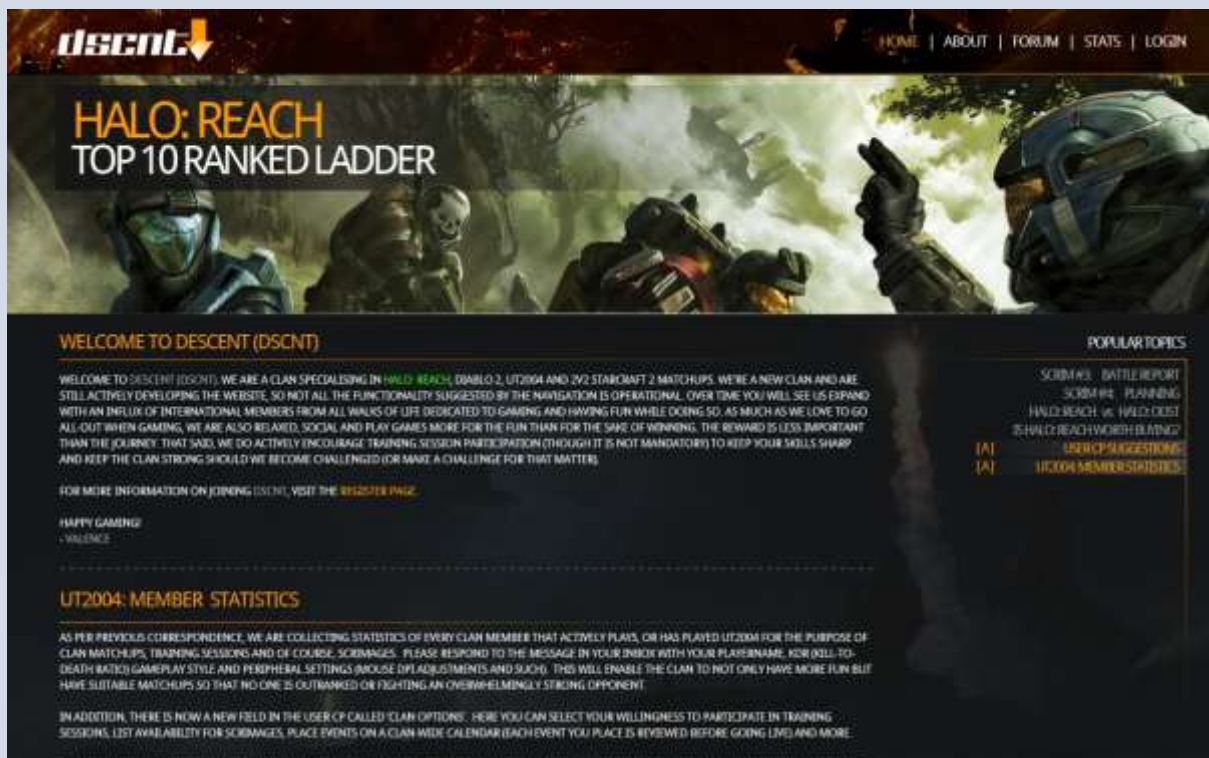

As much of my work was internal to Government departments and university intranet portals, I am unable to provide screenshots and public access, but can show some individual and conceptual work I have created.

Conceptual LMS mock-up (XHTML, CSS, jQuery; responsive)

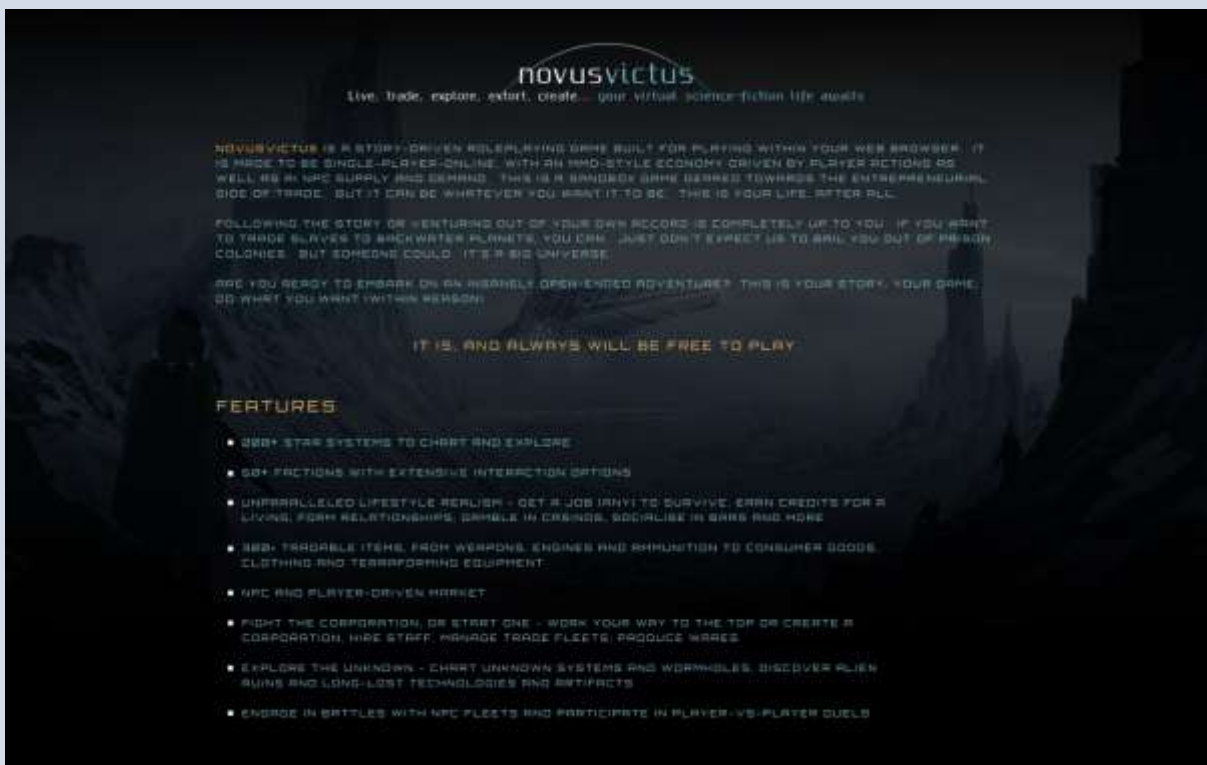

A mock-up website layout for a web design community I planned to create in 2012 (XHTML, CSS, jQuery)

A members-only website layout created for the Descent (dscnt) gaming group (XHTML, CSS, responsive)

One of many screens created for the A.D Venture browser-based game with original artwork from my deviantArt account (<http://shiversong.deviantart.com/>)

An introductory page design to the novusvictus browser-based game (XHTML, CSS, responsive)

A website layout created for the Tyrian Exploration Society, a gaming group within a game titled Guild Wars 2 (XHTML, CSS)

A conceptual Big Day Out poster created as part of a graphic design workshop held at the Commercial Arts Training College (CATC) in 2012
